

24.0 SUPPLEMENTARY INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS

24.1 Supplementary printed materials from commercial, political, religious or other non-school sources shall have the approval of the building Principal before being used in the schools. This approval may be given to materials that are of obvious educational quality, which supplement and enrich text and reference book materials for definite school courses, which are timely and up-to-date, and which promote American democratic ideals and moral values.

24.2 Teachers may use special aids such as models, films, slides, pictures, charts and exhibits for educational purposes subject to the approval of the building Principal although these materials may bear the name of a commercial business firm that provided the aid.

24.3 Educational films secured from or through commercial sources shall be approved by the building Principal prior to their use in the schools.

24.4 Sponsored materials must meet the same basic selection criteria as any other learning material as well as the following special criteria:

24.4.1 Any expression of a point of view should be clearly identified.

24.4.2 Any advertising that appears on or with any material should be in good taste and unobtrusive.

24.4.3 The source of all material should be clearly identifiable.

24.5 All materials used in the classroom shall be subject to the ultimate authority of the Board of Education.
